Life Quote – June 10

"Loving fathers bring a vital dose of love, security, and stability to their wives and children and they make a very positive difference, indeed. Yet ... America has transformed itself from being 'a culture of belonging' to being 'a culture of rejection.' And the children caught in the middle pay the price. So to all the fathers out there: Don't let the pop culture relegate you to oblivion. We need your leadership and your love—we need you. You are vital to your families, to our society, and to our nation's future. Please make every day a day of fathering." Rebecca Hagelin, author and syndicated columnist. A Life Quote from Lutherans For Life /
